CHANGED HIS MIND AGAIN

MR. WILSON has changed his mind again. "Mr. Wilson today began detailed plans for his campaign for re-election, particularly with reference to his own part in the next two months of speechmaking," is the announcement which comes from Mr. Wilson's summer home, at Long Branch. The president has decided "to avoid personalities as far as possible," the announcement continues. Mr. Wilson probably does appreciate the truth of the old adage, "People who live in glass houses, etc." The dispatch further discloses the fact that Mr. Wilson contemplates making a number of speeches in various parts of the country. It will be remembered that only a short time ago Chairman McCormick, after a conference with President Wilson, announced that Mr. Wilson did not think it "concomitant with the dignity of the presidency" for a president to go about making campaign speeches. In addition to his speeches, Mr. Wilson has decided to write a series of letters to Democratic leaders in doubtful states, with a view to further setting forth his political views and defending his administrative record.

THE MIDDLE WEST

THAT hopeless optimist, Vance McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National committee, is confident that even if the Progressives have returned to the Republican party, as shown by the Maine election, "the middle west is overwhelmingly for Wilson," while Secretary Lane asserts that "West of the Alleghenies is solid for the president." In 1914, the Maine Republicans polled 58,862 votes; the Progressives 18,225. In Ohio, the Republicans polled 524,625, the Progressives 60,971. The Republican, Willis, was elected by 31,258 plurality. The percentage of Progressives in Ohio was, therefore, much smaller than in Maine. The Democratic candidate received 92,229 fewer votes than the combined Republican and Progressive vote. In Wisconsin, the Republican candidate for governor was elected with 140,787 votes, the Progressives casting 32,560, the combined vote being 53,838 greater than that of the Democrat. In Iowa, the Republican candidate for governor was elected by a plurality of 30,861. The Progressives polled 17,329. In Indiana, two years ago, a Democratic senator was re-elected by a plurality of 45,483. Miller, Republican, 226,766, and Beveridge, Progressive, 108,581. Mr. Beveridge is now supporting Mr. Hughes. Add one half his vote to that of Mr. Miller and see where Shively, the Democratic candidate, would have been. Democratic arithmetic must be as peculiar as Democratic statesmanship.

THAT MEXICAN LOAN

PRESIDENT WILSON'S efforts to induce New York bankers to make a loan of $150,000,000 to Carranza are not meeting with any large measure of success. The bankers point out that Carranza already has a bonded and floating indebtedness of $620,000,000 and that what is more to the point Carranza has shown himself to be thoroughly unprincipled and therefore not entitled to credit by any reputable concern. There is one method by which Mr. Wilson may possibly achieve his end. If he will concede Carranza's right to an indemnity of $150,000,000 because of invasion of Mexican territory by Pershing's expedition and commit the United States to its payment, the bankers will certainly consider the feasibility of accepting the Mexican claim as collateral for a large loan, probably not $150,000,000, but a sum approximating the amount and still leaving some margin to cover interest, cost of collection, etc. If the truth is ever known regarding the Mexican conference at New London, it will constitute another humiliating scandal for which this administration is responsible, but present indications are that the truth will remain known only to a very few. There was no scandal about the A-B-C conference at Niagara Falls, but the humiliating facts have never come out, and probably never will.

A WILSON GOLD BRICK

"SIGN this bill with real emotion because I know what it means to the health and vigor of the country and to the happiness of those whom it affects. It is with genuine pride that I play my part in completing this legislation. I congratulate the country and felicitate myself." This was the statement of President Wilson as, seated before the movie camera, he signed the child labor bill. And now the bill he signed proves to be a fraud and a fake. It forbids shipment out of a state of the product of a cannery, mill, factory, etc., "in which, within thirty days prior to the removal of such product" from the cannery, factory or mill, etc., children have been employed or permitted to work. Therefore, all the cannery, mill operator or manufacturer need do is to hold his product of child labor for thirty days and he can ship it where he pleases. There is nothing in the law to prevent. To canneries, which employ great numbers of children, this law will prove especially convenient. Canneries pack their product during an extremely short season. Under Mr. Wilson's widely advertised child labor law they can pursue their normal course and need only follow their customary practice of holding their goods thirty days before shipment, to escape the prohibition of the law. It was one of Mr. Wilson's Democratic henchmen in the Senate who substituted this provision for the really effective provision which had been adopted in the House. The effort of the Wilson administration to deceive the public into believing that the Democratic administration had passed and the president had signed a real child labor law, when in fact it had done nothing of the kind, has served to recall the fact that before he entered the White House Mr. Wilson denounced the utilization of the commerce clause of the Constitution to regulate child labor in the most scathing terms, and serves to confirm the Republican contention that he fathered a fake bill merely to gain votes on election day.

COWARDICE OF COERCION IS EXPOSED BY CHAS. E. HUGHES

(By Associated Press.)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 20.—Charles E. Hughes, addressing an audience in the arsenal here last night, renewed his attack on the administration for passage of the Adamson law in the face of the threatened railroad strike. Mr. Hughes discussed and called "futile" reasons advocated for its passage, quoted from President Wilson's address to Congress on the subject, challenged the statement of Representative Adamson that the law was passed to meet an emergency, and cited from a speech attributed to Grover Cleveland.

"We have seen," Mr. Hughes said, "what appears to be the consideration of immediate political expediency at the expense of public welfare."

Mr. Adamson said: "It is hasty"

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION COMPLETES ITS TICKET

It was nearly 10 o'clock last night when the Democratic county and township conventions concluded their work. The most dramatic feature at the close of the session was the arraignment by Sam Forman of the county commissioners for their waste of the county funds.

The nominations made after the Bonanza's report yesterday afternoon were: Leo Harrington, D. J. Fitzgerald, Ben Luce and Walter Bell, assemblymen; Chas. L. Slavin, sheriff and assessor; Frank P. Dunn, district attorney; L. E. Glass, clerk; Mrs. Jennie Curieux, auditor and recorder; John Barrier, treasurer; W. A. Marsh, long term commissioner; W. J. Douglas, short term commissioner; W. J. Moran, surveyor; H. W. Albert, public administrator; Conway Fiesler, justice of the peace, Tonopah township; John Grant, constable; W. R. Wilcox, justice of the peace, Manhattan township; P. B. Cochran, constable; Thomas Cahill, justice of the peace, Round Mountain township; Ed Hicks, constable.

legislation, I admit, to meet an emergency." Mr. Hughes continued: "What emergency? The emergency of force to which the administration had capitulated."

"Senator Underwood said: 'We have no information on which to legislate and to fix rates of wages, which we are going to and attempting to do.'

"Contrast the action of the administration," the nominee added, "with what was said by Grover Cleveland in 1886 with respect to labor legislation:

"All legislation on the subject should be calmly and deliberately undertaken with no purpose of satisfying unreasonable demands or gaining partisan advantage."

played for some time as engineer on the Caliente & Pioche railroad. The man who did the shooting was C. E. Dawson, a fireman on the Salt Lake route. The tragedy happened near the roadway to the rear of the store of A. H. Norris. Six shots were fired in all, one of which pierced the heart of the victim.

The trouble is alleged to have been one of long standing and grew out of what Dawson claims to have been Mahoney's determination to ruin his home. It is claimed that Dawson warned Mahoney. Anyway, the two men met and Dawson pulled a revolver and began firing, with the result stated. The slayer of Mahoney gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Rex Hathews soon after the shooting.

SOCIALIST NOMINATIONS

In addition to the proceedings of the Socialist county and township conventions, as published in yesterday's Bonanza, the following selections were made: Pay Davis, state senator; J. B. Brakman, justice of the peace, Manhattan; Al Norris, justice of the peace, Round Mountain; Wm. Nyswonger, constable.
